

Presenter: Ikuko Ogawa (Teacher, Kasai Junior High School, Tokyo)

Title: The Japanese Language Class, Empowerment for Students' Life and Career

Abstract: In Japan, foreign origin students enter a junior high school without any prior knowledge of Japanese language and they have to challenge an entrance examination for high schools. Thus, they tend to be in mentally stable conditions. The Japanese language class plays a significant role of students' mental support as well as of Japanese language learning and other subject learning, which will open up students' career paths. Therefore, the Japanese language class in a junior high school is the place to support students who are non-dominant in the current Japanese educational system and to encourage them for next stage of their life, within a short period.